Ohio Senate Seeks Aid For County Relief Use

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, June 24—(AP)—State senators dig into the problem of helping counties meet rising poor relief costs when they return to work Monday.

They agreed to vote on the Deddens-Niehaus bill, similar to the Carey act of depression days. It authorizes county commissioners to issue bonds to get poor relief money. The state matches local relief expenses up to 50 percent.

Cincinnati Senators William H. Deddens (R) and Maurice A. Niehaus (D) introduced the measure June 8. They acted when Gov. Frank J. Lausche termed poor relief "the state's No. 1 problem."

Senators returning Monday night from weekend adjournment also will consider bills to revise Ohio's marriage and divorce laws. They are sponsored by Sen. Edwin F. Sawicki (D-Cuyahoga).

Would Aid Veterans
Returning representatives act on a senate-passed bill designed to help disabled war veterans get jobs. It would ease employers' costs in workmen's compensation cases involving such veterans, said Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland). He sponsored the measure.

The senate Thursday received a bill to raise money for school teacher pay increases. Lausche has criticized attempts to appropriate the money without provision for raising it.

Sens. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) say their bill is the answer. It proposes collection of sales taxes now evaded and savings in administration they estimated at $18,000,000 a year.

Here's what the bill seeks to do: Eliminate use of sales tax stamps to save the state $6,000,000 in handling costs; tax used car sales when ownership titles are transferred to get $10,000,000 not being collected.

The measure will give "financial assistance to meet the increasing need of the public schools," Mechem and Sheppard said in a joint statement.

The money is intended for $225-a-year pay raises to teachers for two years. A bill to appropriate $27,500,000 for the raises passed the senate and won house finance committee recommendation.

The governor tried to block the measure in the senate and criticized the house committee Thursday for its action. He said the state doesn't have the extra money and saw new taxes as the only way of getting it. Lausche said in a statement.

BY-PASS 1ST IN PRIORITY, CITY IS TOLD

State Highway Department Men Confer Here With City, Civic Leaders

"Salem's truck by-pass project is being given No. 1 priority in this division by the state highway department," Dawson W. Smith, division engineer, told a group of 25 interested Salemites at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning.

Smith, Chief Planning Engineer N. M. Wilkie, his assistant, C. H. Makeever, and Location Engineer Levi Kimball, all of the state highway department, met with representatives of the city administration and council, civic groups and others backing the proposed by-pass north of Salem.

County Commissioners Kim Crawford and Clarence Robinson attended.

The quartet of state men appeared here to discuss further the request made to Gov. Frank L. Lausche by a Salem contingent for action on a by-pass. The original Salem group met with the governor last month in Columbus.

Can't Be Rushed
Smith commented further that the Salem project "can not be rushed through." He said it would entail an endless amount of detailed work and might reach the four or five million dollar bracket before completion.

Wilkie did most of the speaking for the state group, explaining the processes through which such an undertaking must pass. He said the project "positively would not involve any politics as it is simply a matter based on the needs of the state and Salem to be determined by the traffic congestion existing in Salem."

He estimated that about 85 percent of the traffic now passing through Salem would do so even if the by-pass were constructed. Earlier surveys made by the state department for the city confirm that report.

Wilkie also noted that the proposed Ohio turnpike might affect Salem's problem and he said his engineers would dove-tail any project here with over-all turnpike plans.

Wilkie said the first step in the state's move toward accomplishing this project would be a formal report on the need and importance of the by-pass from Smith, the division engineer. This would constitute a request for a thorough study by the planning branch.

Then, he added, the process would include: Plans prepared by engineers assigned to the project. An aerial map to show terrain and assist the engineers in selection the pin-point location of the by-pass.

Wilkie did not state the source of financing for this project. He said that interested Salem parties would be kept informed of the progress of the project through reports and conferences.

Expressions of appreciation for the agreement of thinking on the by-pass was voiced by Wilkie.

MUST KEEP REDS ON DEFENSE, CLAIM

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson is convinced Soviet Russia is now on the defensive in "the struggle for the soul of Europe"—and must be kept that way.

He said yesterday the Paris meeting of the Big Four ministers showed Russia does not dare follow the example of the west by relaxing its grip in occupied Germany.

Two days following his return from Paris, the secretary detailed at a news conference his thoughts on "where we go from here."

First he denounced the attacks on the Communist-led regime in Czechoslovakia on Archbishop Josef Beran as a violation of the "rights of conscience and the decencies of civilization."

Then Acheson said the Big Four conference served—like the gauge on a steam roller—to measure the pressures between Russia and the west.

"I think that the recording of this conference is that the position of the west has grown steadily, greatly, in strength and that the position of the Soviet Union in regard to the struggle for the soul of Europe has changed from the offensive to the defensive," he said.

"The significance of this is very important in explaining why no agreement was possible about Germany."

"Being on the defensive, the Soviet Union was forced to take, or did take at any rate, the attitude that it would not relax its hold in any way whatever upon any area which it controlled in Germany. It would not relax its hold on the eastern zone of Germany nor on the eastern sector of Berlin."

State Department Paper Will Tell Chiang's Bungles

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—Diplomatic informants said today that the administration, in defense of its China policy, may produce hitherto secret evidence blaming Chiang Kai-Shek for the collapse of Nationalist China.

These sources said the State department is assembling a complete record of military failures and political conniving under the Chiang regime.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson guardedly acknowledged at his news conference yesterday that preparation of a white paper on China is under consideration.

Diplomatic informants believe the department will attempt to show that Chiang wrecked plans for defenses of South China along the Yangtze river line for personal reasons; that he deliberately withdrew the entire Nationalist air force and navy and several hundred thousand troops from the Yangtze area in an effort to force his recall to the presidency.

Expect Paper
They expect the projected white paper also to establish that Chiang consistently ignored American military advice.

For the past several months, the administration's policy in the Far East has been under heavy congressional criticism.

However, chief opposition to the administration's $150,000,000 recovery program for Korea now is coming from the same China policy critics. A strong body of official opinion is represented as feeling that the full story of China must be told in order to avoid jeopardizing the Korean program and other U. S. Far Eastern moves.

Korea is a bastion in current American plans for containing Asiatic Communism within China.

An indication of a possible congressional fight on China policy was seen in the senate's failure to act on the nomination of W. Walton Butterworth, as assistant secretary of state in charge of far eastern affairs.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, acting for GOP Leader Kenneth S. Wherry, of Nebraska, asked for a delay on Butterworth's confirmation last night after the senate had confirmed four other new assistant secretaries.

Objects to Butterworth
Wherry, an outspoken critic of the administration's policy in the Orient, has objected to Butterworth's decisions as head of the State department's office of Far Eastern affairs.

Confirmed as assistant secretaries were John D. Hickerson, Texas; Edward G. Miller, Jr., New York; George C. McChesney, Texas; and George W. Perkins, New York. George F. Keenan of Wisconsin was confirmed as State department counselor, and Adrian S. Fisher of Tennessee as legal adviser.

Part of The Education

Backers of compulsory fair employment laws are disappointed, of course, because the Ohio General Assembly failed to give them what they wanted. The state will have neither a compulsory nor an "educational fair employment law now, because the senate's rejection of the conference report closes the issue as far as the 98th General Assembly is concerned.

But as far as Ohioans are concerned, the issue will stay alive. It always has been alive. That's why there has been progress in this and other states on the whole matter of racial and religious discrimination. Perhaps progress might be accelerated by a law compelling certain persons to conform to certain rules; there's room for argument there. But there will be progress anyway.

While those who wanted to use compulsion can't be expected to feel conciliatory right now, they have something to learn about the technique of tolerance in a free society; namely, that those who advocate tolerance for others can't afford to be intolerant themselves. And they might learn that the state of being intolerant isn't confined to prejudice of any particular kind.

When they have learned this, the case for a law to compel certain persons in Ohio to obey certain rules laid down by other persons in the name of tolerance will be stronger than it was in the 98th General Assembly.

With Sam's Help

The two managed economies that Americans think about most are in Great Britain and Russia. Sir Stafford Cripps has recently sized up the situation in Britain, which has no Iron Curtain to conceal what's going on.

"The vast reliance we in this country still have to place upon gifts and loans of dollars from the United States and Canada demonstrates how far we are from a solution of our problems of a balance of trade and payments with North America," said Sir Stafford, adding "nor do our problems appear to be growing less."

In the case of Russia, there has been less candor but no dearth of circumstantial evidence that the Russian managers, too, have relied heavily on the United States to hide weaknesses in the doctrine that a handful of politicians know more economic answers than all the rest of the people combined. Russia has concentrated on military security at the expense of general welfare, but without the help of the United States in World War II would have had a fatal shortage of military equipment. Since the war the systematic draining of resources from satellite countries has been tell-tale evidence that outside assistance is desperately needed to compensate for a chronic lack of domestic production.

Yet in the United States, theorists itching for a chance to plan this country's economy and enforce the plan with government edicts never point with pride to either Great Britain or Russia. Where they find reason to believe they could improve on a system that has produced everything needed in the United States, with great quantities to spare for countries unable to meet their own needs, is the major mystery of an era of economic illusion.

Fringe On The Bottom

A nostalgic note is being struck in Wimbledon, where Britain mixes tennis and fashion. America's Gertrude Moran, U. S. indoor title-holder, is getting headline attention for a handful of lace attached to the bottom of a pair of abbreviated unmentionables worn under an equally abbreviated skirt. Miss Moran plays tennis vigorously, with the result that the lace is much in evidence.

It was put there by a London dress designer after Miss Moran had her first look at a new costume he had created for her appearances on the Wimbledon courts. "What happens if my skirt blows up?" inquired Miss Moran. The designer's answer was to sew on something to catch the eye. Very simple.

And why is this a nostalgic note? Because a long time ago, when all of us were younger and some of us weren't born yet, a Frenchwoman named Suzanne Lenglen wowed the world by playing tennis vigorously in an abbreviated skirt. She was the toast of the tennis galleries in the decade after World War I. Her pictures were in all the papers. The great Suzanne died in 1938, but abbreviated costumes for women tennis players go onward—and upward.

Two Sides of Academic Freedom

Educators and politicians, both highly articulate, are in another of their interminable arguments about academic freedom, right of the state to keep posted about what's going on. This one was started by an inquiry from the house un-American activities committee about textbooks. And as usual, the pupils and their parents, are a silent majority.

In a general way, the argument finds most professional educators insisting they have a right to teach what they think is proper and almost everybody else insisting that some things aren't proper. Obviously, it's risky to make judgments about what is and isn't proper, but educators themselves aren't infallible, either.

There's another side of academic freedom that's rarely mentioned—the right of those who learn and the parallel right of those who send children to school to be protected against falsehood and treason. In the case of a private college, for example, no one claims it's none of the pupil's business, or his elders' business, what is taught. It is the obligation of the school's management to make sure the curriculum is sound. Yet, there are some apostles of academic freedom who insist they have an inalienable right to teach anything that happens to come to their minds.

They wouldn't insist on the right, perhaps, to teach that two and two make five, but some of them apparently think they have a right to teach that everything about the United States is wrong and should be changed instantly.

Something New

The gas turbine-electric locomotive being eyed by railroads as a potential workhorse of the future is one more reminder that engineering skill feeds on itself. A turbine-electric locomotive gets its power from the same principle of combustion as a jet engine, but instead of driving itself like a rocket it is driven by a turbine which generates electricity. The electricity, in turn, drives motors attached to the engine wheels.

In its present stage of development, such an engine cannot compete successfully with the now familiar Diesel-electric locomotives. But it was many years after these locomotives moved from the drawing boards to the roadbeds before they could compete with the traditional steam-driven locomotive. In the meantime, engineers were busy with improvements which made the Diesel-electrics the most practicable of available designs.

A new locomotive now is available. It is a potential successor to the best locomotives now in use. . . . Years will pass before it will become the actual successor, if it ever does. During the same years, new ideas and designs will be introduced into every field of engineering. There are no absolutes—nothing so good it cannot be improved on by people who are free to use their ingenuity and enterprise to make something better if they can.

A PECULIAR trend of events, or strange contacts, makes this a "day to be remembered" as intriguing, weird and probably exalting in its mental and emotional reactions. While the mind may be resourceful and fertile, it is possible that if wild or erratic feelings be held in leash some stroke of genius, or an intuitive insight may beget something strangely profitable.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, being endowed with a versatile mind, with insight, keen vision and intuitive leads even on practical matters, may enjoy a rather unique experience in far fields of operation, or possibly in strange leads, dreams or other unrealistic urge. Such exceptional talents or graces, while fanciful and glamorous or elusive, could be turned to excellent advantage by proper attention to realities, the subjective serving the objective by due control.

A child born on this day is endowed with rare qualities of mentality, emotions and feelings. While such gifts may be turned into profitable channels, they call for proper understanding and insight lest imagination run away with common sense.

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

For most people, hoarseness is more of a nuisance or an embarrassment than anything else. The sinister whisper or melodramatic lowering of the voice by which it makes itself known is much more likely to provoke jokes than to win sympathy.

As a matter of fact, hoarseness is not usually a serious sign, particularly as it is most often due to some simple inflammation of the larynx or voice-box, such as acute laryngitis, which clears up within a period of a few days. In people who use their voices a great deal this type of inflammation may become long continued or chronic without indicating anything more than the need to talk less.

Severe Disorders

There are, however, a good many severe disorders whose first noticeable symptom may be a persistent hoarseness. For this reason, when hoarseness is present for longer than two weeks, a visit to a specialist is in order. In these cases, a definite diagnosis requires that a thorough study be made. This should include an examination with the laryngoscope, an instrument which permits the physician to look directly at the tissues of the larynx.

During the examination with the laryngoscope, it is possible to determine whether or not tumors, such as cancer, are present, or less dangerous growths, such as papilloma or fibroma. In order to be absolutely certain, it may sometimes be necessary to remove a small bit of tissue from the growth for examination under the microscope.

Occasionally, syphilitic laryngitis may also be responsible for continued hoarseness. The same is true of tuberculous laryngitis.

Pressure on Nerves

Sometimes disorders in the structures surrounding the larynx may lead to pressure on the nerves, with paralysis of the vocal cords. This may happen in cases of cancer of the thyroid gland, or an enlargement of aneurysm of the aorta which is the large blood vessel coming from the heart.

MATCH FOLDER AD IDENTIFIES MAN

HAMILTON, June 24—An advertisement printed on a match folder, led to quick identification of a Covington, Ky., man who told police here last night he had forgotten his name.

It turned out that he was John Graham, Sr., 54, and that he owned the automobile service station advertised on the folder. His son, John Graham, Jr., came to Hamilton after him.

The senior Graham entered police headquarters last night and told Assistant Police Chief Robert Welch that he had forgotten his name and where he lived.

Welch decided to call the service station named on the match folder Graham gave him. Identification was completed quickly.

The son said Graham left home early yesterday morning. He said his father had been ill recently, according to Assistant Chief Welch.

SOWERS SUPPORTS HIS CLAIMS ABOUT CONSTRUCTION JOB

COLUMBUS, June 24—(AP)—State Public Works Director George B. Sowers reiterated today there was nothing wrong but the planning in construction of the Apple Creek hospital.

In a letter to members of the legislature, Sowers replied to Joseph Gatozzi of Cleveland, architect of the Apple Creek hospital, who was fired by Sowers. Gatozzi, June 9, submitted to the General Assembly what he called a "report of faulty construction at Apple Creek." Sowers, who is retiring as director when his term expires July 31, said of the Gatozzi report:

Not a Report
"It is in no sense a 'report' since it contains no facts.

"It is filled with errors of fact, unbalanced conclusions, unfounded accusations and plain statement of untruths designed to mislead and deceive the honorable members of this General Assembly.

"It would cost the state more than $50,000 to correct scores of errors, defects, mistakes, omissions and items of impossible construction contained in the plans and specifications prepared by Gatozzi.

"Never in all my experience as an engineer during the past 35 years have I seen a set of plans so filled with errors, omissions, inconsistencies and extravagant items of construction.

"The hospital building is structurally safe for its intended use. In fact, it is over-designed for strength.

"None of the contractors has been paid for inferior or defective work or for work not performed. In fact, there has been no inferior or defective work.

"The contractors, in order to expedite their work have, at their own expense, corrected many of the errors in the plans and specifications and furnished materials not required by the plans and specifications without additional compensation therefore," Sowers added.

Impatience Poor Thing On The Road

Delays and interruptions are a bugaboo of anyone who wants to get things done in a hurry, says Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club, who adds that this is just as true on the highway as it is anywhere else.

If you drive a car, you know how many things can happen to make you stop just when you want to keep moving—stop signs, detours, stalled cars, slow freights at grade crossings and many other exasperating experiences.

Many steps have been taken to eliminate the delays and interruptions that make for unsatisfactory motoring—bypass highways, separated grade crossings, through highways and others. But, while we are trying to eliminate the interruptions, let's not permit the interruptions to eliminate us!

Impatience with existing traffic conditions is one of the chief causes of traffic accidents. Impatience with delays and interruptions can be a good thing if it leads to appropriate action. But until all the interruptions and delays—from traffic jams to flat tires—are a thing of the past, let's keep our wits about us.

Patience on the highway saves lives. Your patience may some day save your life!

ADDED BUSINESS MAY HOLD CONGRESS

Acheson Appeal and Bill to Chop Spending May Delay Arjournment

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—The efforts of Democratic leaders to get congress out of town by late July or August may be snagged by some items of unfinished business.

Key senators have a plan for approving President Truman's first seven government reorganization proposals without waiting the 60 days now required by law. But at least two controversial proposals may hold up adjournment anyhow. They are:

1. Secretary of State Acheson's suggestion yesterday that congress vote at this session on re-arming western Europe, following expected senate ratification of the North Atlantic pact. Action on the arms plan, which now seems likely, probably would involve long committee hearings and floor debate.

2. A senate petition demanding a vote on an economy scheme that would order President Truman to cut government spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1. That, too, could cause considerable time-consuming argument among the lawmakers.

The economy petition is being circulated by Chairman McClellan (D) of Arkansas, of the senate expenditures committee, and Senator Reed (R) of Kansas.

Chop Off 10 Per Cent

It asks the senate to direct Truman to chop from 5 to 10 per cent off funds voted by congress for spending during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois has rejected pleas for its consideration, saying congress has the job of deciding on government spending, not the President.

But McClellan claims 21 Democrats have signed the petition, while Sen. Reed has 24 Republicans on the line and expects more. Five more names would make a senate majority.

Sen. McClellan, whose committee is considering the reorganization plans delivered to congress Monday, told a reporter he is certain they will not delay adjournment.

GOP Floor Leader Wherry of Nebraska agreed that congress should be able to decide the reorganization issues quickly.

Under the new law giving the President authority to reshuffle and streamline executive departments, his proposals go into effect 60 days after they are sent to congress unless either the senate or house disapproves.

Some leaders in both the house and senate are proposing that congress speed this up by a direct vote of approval. That would make the reorganization effective without waiting until August 20.

Pleads Innocent

che repeatedly has opposed new or increased taxes.

House-approved bills passed by the senate would:

Permit cities, villages and school districts to acquire and operate playgrounds jointly; let police and fire departments designate a secretary; authorize the governor to cede part of the state-owned Mansfield armory site to that city.

The senate defeated a proposal to let county commissioners pay expenses of deputy sheriffs attending police and FBI schools.

House Approved Bills

The house completed passage of three measures. They would: Impose an extra $1 charge for special auto license tags; boost to $1,000 the $500 limit on municipalities' purchases of material and equipment without competitive bidding; name U. S. Route 23 between Portsmouth and Toledo the "United Spanish War Veterans Memorial highway."

Representatives passed and sent to the senate a bill setting a 15-year limit on inheritance tax collections.

Senate committees recommended passage of these house-approved bills:

Public utilities—Limit "party lines" to ten phones;

Public works—Let bridge commission charge tolls on East Liverpool span over Ohio river until obligations retired;

Judiciary—Authorize transfer of part of the Van Wert armory to Charles C. Raabe to straighten a state property line.

Mrs. Huffman's Arrangement

Mrs. Huffman Wins National Award

Mrs. E. S. Huffman, Franklin rd., member of the Salem Garden club, has been given national recognition as a flower arranger.

Mrs. Huffman is one of 16 in the United States to receive an award in the nation-wide flower arrangement contest, sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

Winners were picked by six nationally accredited judges, who selected what they considered the best ten in each of four classes. Final judging was made by popular vote of members attending the recent National Council convention at Portland, Ore.

Arrangements were judged for beauty of design and distinction. Mrs. Huffman won fourth in the line arrangement class. Made of naturalistic material, she used a budding maple branch, combined with wild cabbage, set on a stone base and "banked" with woodland moss.

A picture of her arrangement and her ribbon award will be on display at the Garden club's spring flower show Monday afternoon in the public library assembly room.

Mrs. Huffman, who is active in club work, is chairman of the Bird committee of the Garden club and treasurer of the Book club.

HANDYMAN TELLS OF FBI $200 BID

Says He Was Offered Money To Find Hiss Type-writer by Agent

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—A former handyman for Alger Hiss testified today the FBI offered him $200 for an old typewriter which the defense produced yesterday.

Ray Catlett, 27, the Negro handyman who worked for the Hisses in Washington, D. C., so picked the prosecutor he began shouting questions until defense counsel objected.

The prosecutor, Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy, became annoyed with Catlett's reference to what Murphy called "this alleged $200 offer."

The battered old typewriter became a silent witness for Hiss yesterday at his perjury trial. Catlett and his mother, who served the Hiss family as a maid, related part of the machine's history to bolster Hiss' defense.

The prosecution charges an old Woodstock was used by Mrs. Hiss in 1937 and 1938 to copy State department documents for transmission to Whittaker Chambers, Chambers, courier for a prewar Soviet spy ring, charges Mrs. Hiss copied the documents and that Hiss gave him the copies.

Tells of Hiss Offer
Under cross examination, Catlett said he helped trace the old typewriter. He said Hiss' brother, Donald, had given him "about $40" to offer to anyone who could find the machine.

Murphy then brought out that Catlett was interviewed by FBI agents and Catlett said, "the agents said they would pay me $200 or more if I got the typewriter."

"What agent told you that?" thundered Murphy.

"One of the agents," Catlett replied mildly.

"What agent?" demanded Murphy.

"Jones," said Catlett.

With Murphy's voice rising until it echoed in the federal court room and Catlett answering calmly, this questioning developed:

Murphy—"He's a big, tall fellow, isn't he?"

Catlett—"Yes, sir."

Murphy—"Who told you to say that $200 story?"

Catlett—"Mr. Jones."

Murphy—"Who told you to say it now?"

Catlett—"Mr. Jones said it."

Asked if he had told one of the defense counsel, Edward C. McLean, of the alleged FBI agent's offer, Catlett said he had.

Murphy then shouted several questions in an attempt to learn whether Catlett told McLean of the offer last May 13. Catlett replied it might have been May 13 or 15. But he did not fix the date.

Murphy roared: "On your oath as you sit here, you say Mr. Jones said that?"

"That's right," Catlett said.

ADD ALLOTMENT FOR JOBLESS AID

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—An extra allotment of $33,000,000 for grants to states for administering their job-finding and jobless payments programs was recommended today by the house appropriations committee.

The committee said valuable evidence indicates the money is needed to handle claims of the large number of unemployed and any further "unforeseeable work load."

The extra funds for state employment security programs were included in an omnibus $127,032,243 deficiency money bill sent to the house for action probably next week. The bill is in the third and final deficiency measure for the fiscal year ending at midnight next Thursday.

Also included were $7,500,000 to be repaid later—for shipping surplus military equipment to Iran, $1,800,000 for continuation of the State department's information and educational activities in Korea, $34,000,000 for eradication of foot and mouth disease along the Mexican border, and $60,000 for cattle tick eradication in Florida and Georgia.

The $127,032,243 total is $35,658,830 below amounts requested by the President and includes funds for both the present fiscal year and the year starting July 1.

The $33,000,000 for unemployment services is $8,000,000 less than the President requested. It supplements $135,000,000 carried in a pending bill financing the activity for the next fiscal year.

Of the $168,000,000 that would be available for the program for the fiscal year 1950, $160,000,000 would be for allocation to states.

PLEASANT VALLEY GRANGE, COUNTY'S OLDEST, TO MARK 75TH ANNIVERSARY

One of the oldest granges in Columbiana county, Pleasant Valley grange No. 535, will celebrate its 75th Anniversary on Saturday evening, Master Paul Dowling has announced.

Pleasant Valley grange, first organized Feb. 11, 1874, is the oldest grange in Columbiana county and one of the oldest in Ohio. It was born as a result of a wedding trip.

Honeymoon Began Idea
Mr. and Mrs. George Copeland took a honeymoon visit to Williams county where they became familiar with grange work. Upon their return home they began to talk grange with neighbors.

The first meeting was held at the home of Thomas Lindesmith in Dunganon. The organization was formed with 30 charter members. They were: George Copeland, William Linn, Henry Norris, Thomas Lindesmith, Joshua Copeland, Silas Andre, Jonathan Andre, Seth Coulson, J. L. Gavers, Calvin Copeland, William McKarns, Robert Gamble, John Gamble, John Fife, Hiram Gavers, Martha Fife, Samuel Lindesmith, Rezin Brown, John Donaldson, John Anderson, John Armstrong, Catherine Lindesmith, Margaret Armstrong, Tamar Copeland, Hannah Lindesmith, Maggie Copeland, Kate Copeland and Mary Coulson.

Had $67.50
Charter membership fees totaled $67.50 and $30 was paid to the county deputy for a charter and for deputy fees.

First officers were Thomas Lindesmith, master; Seth Coulson, overseer; Hiram Gavers, lecturer; Joshua Copeland, chaplain; Wm. Linn, steward; Robert Gamble, assistant steward and Joseph Fife, treasurer.

George Copeland was named as secretary; John Donaldson, gatekeeper; Anna Gavers, L. A. S.; Hannah Lindesmith, Ceres; Martha Fife, Flora, and Margaret Armstrong, Pomona. James Wener and Joseph Bentley were installation officers. They also gave instructions on unwritten work.

Met In Homes
For a time meetings were held in the homes of members. Finally a small building was purchased in Dunganon for a grange hall.

It served until 1893 when a new hall was built in Pleasant Valley. Grange members feeling that the grange headquarters should be in the rural district away from the bustle and hurry of Dunganon. The grange was then named Pleasant Valley grange.

At the golden anniversary in 1924 State Master Harry Caton spoke and County Deputy Homer Williams presented 50-year membership certificates to three; Tamar Copeland, Matilda Lindesmith and William Fife. Others were given 25-year certificates.

Fichter Spoke
State Master Walter Kirk spoke at the 60th and 65th anniversaries and State Master Joseph W. Fichter at the 70th anniversary five years ago. Four members of Pleasant Valley Grange served in the armed services, Geo. McPherson, Howard Nelson, Edwin Copeland and Paul Benson.

Pleasant Valley grange has many past masters still living. They include William Lindesmith, David McQuilkin, William Watkins, Lura Fife, Herman DeWille, Wade Clark, Adella Trefinger, Herman McGaffick, Milo Brown, Harvey Fife, Lawrence Copeland and Dorothy Finnicum.

Present grange officers are Master Paul Dowling; overseer, H. H. Benson; lecturer, Mrs. Verona McKarns; assistant steward, Dale Brenner; steward, William McKarns; chaplain, Mrs. Mary Brenner; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Keamuir; Ceres, Mrs. Dale Ben-

SEEN HIM?—A 48-state police alarm is out for Sigmund Z. Engel, 73-year-old "love pirate," described by police as a "matrimonial swindler of luxe." His picture was identified by daughters of Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, after their mother disappeared June 12. She told her daughters she was going to get back money she had entrusted to Engel. Police say Engel swindled the 39-year-old widow out of $5000 on promises of marriage.

Has 163 Members
Pleasant Valley grange No. 535, now has 163 members. It has many veteran members among them. Richard Clark has been a member 61 years, Lawrence H. Copeland 45 years, Thomas and Nora Faloon each 43 years and Ann Stewart 42 years.

Charter members are all dead, but their family names are on the present membership roll. In 1939 the grange purchased the Pleasant Valley school building and since then the scope of activity has increased.

This year the grange hall has been enlarged, a basement built and they are looking forward to the organizing of a Juvenile grange and larger activities.

Goodyear To Open Contract Talks
AKRON, June 24—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. will start talking about wages for some 30,000 workers in 10 plants Aug. 1. The site of the meeting has not been set.

This was announced by the CIO - United Rubberworkers, which represents Goodyear employees in the following cities: Los Angeles, Gadsden, Ala., Topeka, Kan., Muncie, Ind., Lincoln, Neb., St. Mary's, O., Jackson, Mich., Windsor, Vt., New Bedford, Mass., and Akron.

Under the existing contract, only wages can be discussed, but the union also is interested in procuring $100-a-month company-financed pensions. It is seeking 25 cents hourly wage increases.

Tonight, the executive board of Goodrich Local 5, URWA, meets to consider a strike vote to support demands. The matter then will go before the membership Sunday.

Claim Interests Pressing Company

FREMONT, June 24—(AP)—Clyde Porcelain Co.'s executive vice president, Thornton E. Stokes, contends certain people are trying to frighten his firm's stockholders into consolidating with the Bendix Co. of South Bend, Ind.

This was Stokes' answer in court to three suits that have been filed in a week against Sandusky county's biggest industry. Clyde Porcelain makes tubs for Bendix washing machines.

The court decisions: First, Carl McGlone & Co. of Chicago asked common pleas court here to appoint a receiver for the firm, claiming "mismanagement."

Then Telecoinc Corp. of New York asked Wood county common pleas court to collect a $50,000 note it claimed the porcelain firm owed. This request was granted. On the same day, Monday, Telecoinc sued Clyde Porcelain for $2,000,000 in U. S. district court at Toledo.

In that suit, Telecoinc said the Clyde concern had delivered defective vending machines and then had backed out on a contract.

Stokes yesterday was mainly concerned with the suit filed by McGlone, a director himself of Clyde Porcelain. McGlone had been granted a temporary injunction preventing a directors' meeting and Stokes wanted the order dissolved.

Judge Robert Gabel refused on the basis that he lacked authority.

Stay Away From Video

Don't Try Television, Experts Warn, But If You Do--Here's How!

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—Television is a field as hard for aspiring actors to crack as movies, then radio, once were.

But young hopefuls are being drawn toward television in ever increasing numbers, flocking to New York and Hollywood with lean purses, determination and dreams of swimming pools and convertibles.

What is the advice of the people who know? It's the same old, unheeded advice that has been handed out before: If you've any common sense, don't try it. Your chances are slim to make the TV grade; extremely good to wind up elsewhere trying to eke out a minimum existence.

But if you are determined, don't storm television portals. Get into stock, little theater or learn your performing ABCs somehow. And remember, if you plan to go to acting school, none of them can guarantee you a job in front of the television cameras, even if you graduate summa cum laude.

Stay Away From City
Charles Barry, vice president in charge of TV for the American Broadcasting Company, advises those who would become stars of television, to get "discovered" outside of New York.

"Here it's like the major leagues in baseball," he said. "We look all over the country for talent."

Barry added he was not violently opposed to acting schools "if you've the time, effort and money to spend."

"At least it probably won't do you any harm," he said. "You'll learn the rudiments—how some things are said and done. I know one fellow, who wants to be an announcer, who went to a school of radio technique. He got a job because one of his courses was on how to run a radio station switchboard."

The radio executive said that, particularly in television, mere beauty or just a good voice isn't going to pay off.

"It's the inner look that is increasingly important," he said. "The most beautiful blonde in the world may be wooden. The guy with the most pleasant voice in the world may look like a cigar store Indian in front of the cameras. If you aren't a quick reader . . . can't learn lines fast . . .

to ask about picture framing. May we show you samples of moulding and give you prices for those pictures you have been intending to have framed, and those you know now you want to use for Christmas?

Good time, too, to have window shades turned and hemmed—this more or less "black time." Plain 36-in. shade, 25c—duplex, 35c. Large shades cost slightly more, in proportion.

you might as well stay down on the farm."

Eleanor Kilgallen, casting director of television for the Columbia Broadcasting Company, is another who is decidedly lukewarm about acting schools.

Actors Are Born
"Acting is something which is born in you," she said. "And experience is gained by batting your brains out. Sure, there are reputable schools, but the best thing to do is get into the theater, any kind of theater, even if all you are doing is painting scenery."

Before you even consider a television career Miss Kilgallen suggests you ask yourself some of the following questions—and answer them honestly:

Can you think fast? Can you learn fast? Can you move fast? Can you talk well? Do you look right?

Miss Kilgallen points out that in television, the actors have but one chance to do their part—and it must be done right. You have to be constantly on the alert for emergencies, because television is full of unplanned and unexpected situations.

Miss Kilgallen says she has found legitimate stage people are the best television performers.

"Movie people have been slowed down by this business of taking one scene and then going on to another," she said. "Radio people, accustomed to learning lines fast, moving on a stage, are best equipped."

John Reber, program director for the National Broadcasting Company's New York television station, maintains that the hardest art in the world is that of television—and the one which shows up a phony faster than any other.

All the experts agreed there's no way to discourage young people from flocking to the big cities in search of TV careers.

The best that can be done is to caution them not to waste their money on acting lessons from sharpies. Be sure to check the reputation of any school you plan to attend, they warn, and don't believe any guarantee that a certificate or diploma from any of them is an open sesame to a television studio.

"But even if youngsters know their chances of success are a thousand to one—which is conservative—they'll come to give it a try," said Reber. "And probably in the long run it's a good thing."

Volunteers Survey Columbiana County For "Health Report"

Facts Related In Book By Agriculture Service

(The results of the first extensive health study ever undertaken in this county have just been made public in a bulletin issued by Ohio State University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture through the co-operation of the Agriculture Extension Service. Believing it of interest to all residents of the county, The News is publishing these results in a series of articles, of which this is the first.)

When a physician feels the pulse and applies the stethoscope, he is determining the condition of two organs in the body—the heart and the lungs.

When the Columbiana County Rural Health Committee became curious about the condition of the "rural health body" of this county, it sent about 317 volunteers who interviewed 16,790 persons in 4,789 families, or 77 per cent of the rural men, women and children of Columbiana county.

Called a "pioneer work in health improvement and one of the first attempts by lay people to take active steps to find out and correct their health problems", the survey has been condensed in an illustrated 24-page pamphlet of the Agriculture Extension Service of Ohio State University.

"YOU AND YOUR NEIGHBOR", the title of the pamphlet, had its inception in 1947 when the rural health council planned the survey and presented it to the Columbiana County Agricultural Council, which approved. It wasn't too much of a task. Rural people of this county have been working together on their problems for many years.

In 1935 it was decided that something should be done about adult education; the county Rural Youth Group and the county Mobile Library Service were set up and still are in use.

In 1939, a land use survey was conducted. The Soil Conservation District, demonstration farms, state forest purchase areas and the farm forestry program resulted.

WHEN THE LAND USE survey was completed, war struck so the rural groups turned to war-time projects. After peace came, the committees studied local community needs and problems and set up action programs. These groups, now called the Township Rural Planning Committees, from the past experience of tackling any job, jumped into the health survey without batting an eyelash.

In October, 1947, 16 of the 17 committees agreed to undertake the projects. In November, local meetings were held to map the townships and select the volunteers to conduct the survey.

The volunteer interviewers knocked on doors of farm homes on roads and lanes throughout the county's 18 townships during the winter of 1947-48.

THEY FILLED OUT extensive questionnaires on the health of the families, the extent of their protection against disease, their water supply and sewage disposal, the condition of the children's teeth, their vision and their hearing, how far they reside from the nearest doctor and hospital, and even if they had hospital insurance.

The volunteers forwarded their filled-in forms to the township chairmen, who prepared summaries. Youngstown College and the County Extension Service rounded out the final summaries. The work was finished in 1948 and handed to the publicity committee of the council, which prepared the report.

"THE PURPOSE OF the survey was not to publicize the health needs of Columbiana county, but rather to provide a measure of needs with which rural people can estimate their progress in improving their health situations." That's the statement of Mrs. Roy Archibald, chairman of the rural health council. And health authorities agree the project did just that.

What did the survey show? Tomorrow: How about protection?

See Curtailment In Expansions

WASHINGTON, June 24 (INS).—The Federal Reserve board said it expects business to curtail still further spending on equipment and property during the next six months.

The board reviewed the investment situation in an article on "The Financial Position of Business" in its monthly bulletin.

It said that the recent downturn in the nation's economy has brought with it a decline in business investment. The article declared: "The rapid growth in dollar volume of business inventories, which had persisted since the end of the war, has ceased. Expenditures on new plants and equipment have declined."

"The decline thus far has been largely seasonal, but businessmen anticipate a further decline in such expenditures in the second half of the year, which is a period of seasonal rise."

The board said a "major factor" in the expected decrease is "completion, or approaching completion, of many of the postwar programs of expansion and modernization."

Generally, however, the board said it believes "the overall financial position of business corporations is still strong by pre-war standards, even though it has continued to recede slowly from the unusually liquid position prevailing at the end of the war."

Mutt Schaeffer Hurls One-Hit Game, Keeps Salem Diner In Lead

Apparently convinced that their place is at the top of the American league, the Salem Diner, warded off—and rather neatly, too—the Parker Chevrolet 8-0 Thursday at West End park.

The victory keeps the Diner right on top of the heap and momentarily pushed Parkers out of contention for the lead, a race that also includes Deming and the Amvets, who won last night 12-2 over Saxons.

In other games yesterday Swetyes defeated the Jaycees 15-6 and in the National league the Electric Furnace triumphed over the last-place Igloo 13-5 as Fishers pulled a surprise in upsetting the CIO 3-1 in a good ball game.

Parkers found things rough in facing the Diner's superb Mutt Schaeffer. The lanky Ohio Northern college student was twirling at his best. He fanned 12 Parkermen and set the foe down with only a single hit.

The league's leading hitter, Dick Boughton, kept up his torrid pace by slamming out a hit in two official trips.

Play is scheduled tonight at West End park only.

FELLER TONIGHT AGAINST SENATORS

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—Big Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians will get another chance tonight to show whether he really has regained his form of late last season.

The right hander will be seeking his third straight win when he goes to the mound against Joe Haynes of the Washington Senators.

The Indians won the opener of the four game series, 4 to 3, last night to keep their slim hold on fourth place. The victory came the hard way, however, with Joe Gordon making a leaping catch in the final frame with the tying and winning runs on base.

Two Nat runs already had crossed the plate in the inning when Eddie Robinson came to bat with two out. He slashed a screaming liner toward right field and the Cleveland second baseman moved to his left and jumped into the air.

The ball stuck in the webbing of his glove.

Until that inning, the Tribe had kept a safe margin behind Early Wynn's pitching. He weakened in the ninth, however, and had to be replaced by Sam Zoldak with runners on second and third and one out. Two singles finished Zoldak and Frank Papish completed the game.

PRESIDENT OKAYS EXTRA CLERK HIRE

WASHINGTON, June 24 — (AP)—President Truman today signed a bill giving house members an additional $3,000 each for clerk hire and $500 a year for telephone and telegraph messages. In doing so he repeated that the salaries of top government officials should be raised.

The President said in a message to congress he signed the increased allowance measure willingly because he believes it is in the interest of the government and the people to provide for the efficient conduct of the public business.

But he indirectly chided the legislators for taking care of themselves while ignoring officials in the executive departments and agencies who have not had a raise in years.

"Important as it is for members of the congress to have adequate clerical assistance," he said, "it is at least of equal importance to have men of ability in the key executive positions of the government. The best laws can be ruined by poor administration."

Truman said bills to raise salaries of key government officials have been reported by committees for weeks but no action has been taken. While the salaries provided in the bills are not what he would like to see, he said, they would "substantially better the present demoralizing situation."

He said the cost of this legislation would be about $1,300,000 annually, compared with $1,314,000 for clerk hire alone under the bill he signed today.

178,892 Seek Jobs During May In Ohio

COLUMBUS, June 24 — The 22,736 jobs filled by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's Employment Service division last month represented the highest total since November, 1948, and an increase for the third consecutive month, BUC Administrator Frank J. Collopy reported today.

However, the 178,892 persons seeking jobs through the Employment Service as of May's end made up the largest such group since May, 1946. Nearly three out of every four of the jobseekers were men.

Last month's placement total—though one-fifth higher than April's—was down from May, 1948, when the BUC filled 28,930 jobs. However, gains in the number of jobs filled were registered for almost all of the key industries last month.

Manufacturing jobs filled rose 15 percent from April after having dropped for seven straight months. Among the non-manufacturing industries, the greatest relative placement increases were reported for the railroads, construction work and private households.

Occupationally speaking, there was a drop in the number of jobs filled with professional, managerial, clerical, sales and skilled workers. But these decreases were more than offset by placement of service, semi-skilled and unskilled persons.

As of May 31, the number of non-farm job openings listed as unfilled with the BUC was 6,171, a decrease of 8 percent from the preceding month.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman now has sent seven plans to congress for overhauling, or reorganizing, the government.

He did that yesterday. And they're important, although they're only the first in a series of plans he'll offer, some this year, some next year.

Since the story of reorganizing the government is complicated, here is an ABC on what happened and what lies ahead. There are three main points:

The study and recommendations made by the Hoover commission; the reorganization act passed by congress; the plans to be offered by Truman.

THIS GOVERNMENT, with 2,100,000 employees, is the biggest business in the world but is less efficient than many, maybe most, businesses.

It has grown as the population grew and the needs of the people increased. Bureaus, agencies, and commissions shoot off in all directions.

Since President Taft first tried it in 1912, a number of attempts have been made to put the government's house in order. None was thorough.

Two years ago congress decided to do a real job of it. It created a 12-man commission, headed by former President Hoover.

This was non-political. The commission was composed of Democrats and Republicans. A Republican congress created it. Truman blessed it.

Its purpose: To study the whole government and offer recommendations to make it run better and cheaper.

About 300 experts helped the commission look for sick spots. Early this year the recommendations began coming out in the form of reports.

The commission produced 18 reports and 287 recommendations, some major, some minor. The next move was up to congress.

UNLESS IT GAVE the President power to put the recommendations into effect, or some of them, they die on the vine.

So last week congress passed an act giving the President power to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

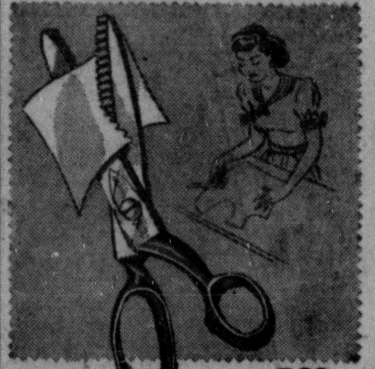

It didn't give him power to tamper with the other two branches: The legislative (congress) or the judiciary (the courts). The Hoover commission examined only the executive branch.

And yesterday Truman signed the act into law. It's not a blank check, leaving him free to do anything he wishes about the executive branch. There's a rein on Truman. For example, First he must offer his reorganization plans to congress. (He offered the seven plans yesterday after signing the act into law.)

Then he must wait 60 days to see what congress thinks. If congress doesn't act within 60 days to kill the plan, Truman can go ahead with it.
